

Ghost Rider Black Rye IPA

THE THIRD INSTALLMENT OF THE 2016 URBAN LEGEND SERIES!

The construction of the Pocahontas Parkway just outside Richmond, Va placed a toll plaza directly over the site of an ancient American Indian burial ground that dates the civilization back to as far as 35000 B.C. The sound of drums and distant chants, and the sight of riders on horseback in full traditional dress have been witnessed by parkway users before the riders have vanished into thin air. Toll plaza workers have even heard the approach of horse hooves pass through the tolls without any person or animal in sight. Our Ghost Rider Black Rye IPA uses a combination of rye and dark malts to produce a slightly spicy roasted malt sweetness followed by a noticeable hop bitterness that lingers for a moment and then vanishes like a rider disappearing into the night.
